The Children’s Sunday School division uses the Faithweaver Curriculum from Group Publishing. This fall we studied stories from the Old Testament, including The Creation Stories, Noah and the Great Flood, The Tower of Babel, Abraham, Isaac, Hagar and Ishmael. Each lesson is based on a central Bible point, such as “We are important to God,” “All people sin,” “God’s promises are always reliable,” and “God has good plans for us.”

All Faithweaver lessons are based on the R.E.A.L approach to teaching, striving to be Relational, Experiential, Applicable and Learner-based, which means the children have an active, hands-on learning experience. We do such things as drama, art projects, have an “eat the lesson” once a month (where the children make a snack that teaches the lesson), make puppets, play games and do science experiments that illustrate the Bible point of the week.

The children begin the hour in large group assembly. We have a time of music with Elva Thomas, then Angie Guffey leads the group in an activity to introduce the lesson. We share prayer concerns, celebrate birthdays, then dismiss to our small group classes. 📖

Ladies from mid-20's to the 50's in this class study in-depth various themes and books from the Bible with an emphasis on the work of the Holy Spirit among believers. The group focuses on learning how to relate to God, as not only our Sovereign, but as our "Daddy" ("Abba") and how to walk by faith in the power of the Holy Spirit as that relates to our everyday lives as we mature in the teachings and love of Jesus. Our most current and on-going study is taken from Lord, I Want To Know You, an Inductive Bible Study by Kay Arthur, on the names of God. The class participates in various mission projects of the church and tries to have a social at least twice a year. Diane Anderson is the teacher. We welcome new members who are eager to study the Word. 📖

"Mixed Up" Adults ClassBeaty House (corner of Sixth Ave and Beaty)

As described by the class, the class focus is as follows: "We begin with doubt: the realization that we are not God and therefore may be wrong. Furthermore, as we look back at our lives of gradually unfolding insights and revelations, we are quite aware of the possibility that any truth we vehemently hold to today may get tossed tomorrow. At the same time we believe that God speaks to each of us in our own language and we hold truths proposed by each in the highest regard while holding each accountable for any attempts to impose personal truths on another. We do not seek answers to life's great questions; we only aspire to refining the questions. We seek truth in scripture but are wide open to various styles of interpretation. We are particularly interested in scripture that is directly relevant to contemporary experience (which is most of it)."

The class has had many mission and ministry projects over its 20-plus years. "Much of our ministry is in support of each other. That keeps us very busy," says a class spokesperson.

For the age parameters of this class, the group states, "You must have lived long enough to have experienced tragedy and loss as well as joy and accomplishment. You do not have to be married, or if married, to attend with your spouse. If you conclude that the teacher(s) has [have] completely missed the point and you could do a better job teaching the class, this is the class for you....Every theological neurosis is respected, challenged, and added to the caldron of collective confusion," according to the "Mixed Up" Class. Teachers include Charlie Sasser and other class members. 📖

Psalms ClassBeaty House (corner of Sixth Ave and Beaty)
